An Old Snub Dragged Forth to Haunt Society.

THE ALLEGED COOL TREATMENT OF MRS. HARRISON BY MRS. BLAINE

At the White House, Where Both Ladies Had Been Invited By Mrs. Garfield to Assist in a Reception—Will It Be the Cause of Keeping the Maine Statesman Out of the Cabinet?

New York, Jan. 16.—The Herald's Washington special says: The "snub" which Col. Rockwell says Mrs. Blaine administered to Mrs. Harrison in 1881, and which he thinks is sufficient to keep Mr. Blaine from being secretary of state, is well remembered by the friends of the Harrison family here.

It did not happen at the Blaine residence, but at the White House, where both Mrs. Blaine and Mrs. Harrison had been asked to assist Mrs. Garfield one Saturday afternoon. A lady who is entirely familiar with the facts and who knows both Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Blaine intimately, says:

"Gen. Harrison took his seat in the senate the day Garfield was inaugurated, but he was not so much of a stranger in Washington as his wife, who had very few acquaintances here either in private or official life, and was not familiar with social customs, that are rather peculiar in Washington. This Saturday, when Mrs. Harrison was invited to assist Mrs. Garfield in receiving, she went to the White House and was shown by a servant to one of the chambers, where she could lay off her wraps.

"There was a lady in the room when she reached it, and Mrs. Harrison at once recognized her as Mrs. Blaine, who she had several times seen, but to whom she had never been introduced. According to Mrs. Harrison's statement of the case, when she entered Mrs. Blaine looked her over with great attention, but did not give her any sort of greeting, and replied to her good morning only with an indifferent grunt.

"When the lady from Indiana had laid aside her wraps and primed a little she approached the lady from Maine with the intention of asking some instructions from her. She desired to know whether she was expected to go at once to the parlors or wait in the dressing room until summoned to join the receiving party, and in the way of breaking the ice she said:

"You are Mrs. Blaine, aren't you?"

"Yes," replied that lady, "I am Mrs. Blaine."

"I have seen you several time before, but have never been presented. I am Mrs. Harrison, of Indiana. My husband is the successor of Judge McDonald in the senate. You may have met him."

"Very likely," replied Mrs. Blaine, in her most scornful manner. "There are a good many new people coming in, but one cannot be expected to remember them all," and with this she marched out of the dressing room, downstairs, leaving Mrs. Harrison in a state of bewilderment as to what happened. "The only reasonable explanation of Mrs. Blaine's extraordinary conduct was that she felt offended because Mrs. Garfield had invited anyone outside the cabinet circle to receive with her. Mrs. Harrison has never met Mrs. Blaine since, although they were in the same room together several times during the Garfield administration, nor has she ever forgiven what she considers to have been an unwarranted insult to one who expected a cordial welcome and friendly advice. Mrs. Harrison's friends say that while she is a polite woman and is not the least vindictive she would never consent to receive Mrs. Blaine as a guest, and therefore it would be impossible for the latter's husband to enter the cabinet.

Mitchell, Kilrain and Fox Meet.

New York, Jan. 16.—Mitchell and Kilrain had a conference with Richard K. Fox Monday. The result of the conference was not made public. Kilrain received a dispatch from Boston Monday morning saying that his mother was dying. He left for Baltimore at 2 o'clock with the intention of taking his wife to his mother's bedside. No effort was made to appoint a referee or to deposit the final $5,000 in his match with John L. Sullivan. Mitchell is loud in his denunciation of his treatment by the press. He absolutely refuses to meet Dempsey in the ring with the most contemptuous terms. Mitchell will sail for England on the Britannic on Wednesday next. He will return in six weeks' time to train Kilrain. Mitchell is positive that Sullivan will never meet Kilrain in the ring.

Saved Himself By Promising to Reform. WABASH, Ind., Jan. 16.—A prominent resident of Andrews was here Monday, and reported that Sunday night a band of White Caps called at the home of a man who has been negligent in providing for his family, took him out and tied him to a telephone pole. After being stripped the poor wretch pleaded so hard for mercy that the Cappers relented and allowed their captive to go home, after he had promised faithfully to do better. He was told that a second visitation would prove disastrous.

Mysteriously Shot.

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 16.—Ed. Sparrow, a young tailor, was mysteriously shot in the leg Sunday night. He claims to have received two anonymous letters warning him that he would be assassinated. A man met him, he claims, and at once fired.

IS IT AN ANNEXATION SCHEME?

The Entire Canadian Parliament to Visit the United States.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—The Times says: Erasmus Wiman is authority for the statement that the government of Canada, including the 320 members of parliament, has been invited to visit the United States. They will be conducted through a tour of the country in special railroad trains. The expense of this is to be borne by a syndicate of bankers, capitalists and business men in this country. The Canadians will not be allowed to expend a penny, and the entire cost of their entertainment will, it is said, foot up $500,000. It was not intended to make this excursion public at this time, but a dispatch from Canada has let the secret out. The plan is that on reaching Buffalo from the suspension bridge the Canadian guests are to be given a formal welcome.

From Buffalo they will be escorted in a special train of cars to Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis. Returning to Cincinnati they will go down the Southern lines to Chattanooga, Tenn., Birmingham, Ala., and through the new coal and iron districts. They will return by way of Washington, Baltimore, Wilmington and Philadelphia to New York. After a short stay in the latter city they will go home by way of Rochester. Mr. Wiman is quoted as saying that this excursion will be of the utmost importance, and "though it will cost a pile of money, Americans will know more of Canadians and Canadians more about the United States than fifty years of writing and talking could accomplish."

A BOGUS DRAFT

For $23,000 Gets an Elmiria, New York, Insurance Agent Into Trouble.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Jan. 16.—The Farmers' and Mechanics' bank, of this city, has been victimized out of $23,000 by C. N. Cunningham, who for the past year has been agent for the Mutual Life Insurance company in this city. Last Saturday he presented a New York draft to the Farmers' and Mechanics' bank for $23,000. The bank not having currency on hand, gave him certified checks for the amount. Cunningham took these checks to the Chemung Canal bank and exchanged them for another New York draft.

It was discovered Monday that the draft presented to the Farmers' and Mechanics' bank was bogus. He was traced to Birmingham, where he had the draft cashed, and took the Lackawanna train east.

LATER—Cunningham has been captured at Hoboken, N. J. Nearly all the money was recovered.

Regulators in Virginia.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—White Caps have organized at Alexandria, Va., and several persons have received notices written in blood. One policeman was warned to stop maltreating his wife and going with other women. Dire punishment was promised. One dissolute individual was taken by the band and buried up to his neck in the ground. He had to be dug out. He was since reformed. The whole town is excited. Some believe the missives to be the pranks of boys, while others seriously believe the White Caps have arrived.

Cut His Former Mistress' Throat.

SIoux CITY, Iowa, Jan. 16.—A white woman named Nellie White was murdered Monday evening by Henry Gillespie, a negro with whom she had formerly lived. Gillespie went to Minnie Garrett's house and demanded that Nellie should live with him again. She refused, and when the Garrett woman went to call the police he overpowered Nellie White and deliberately cut her throat from ear to ear. He then drew the razor across his own throat, inflicting an ugly, but not necessarily fatal wound.

Baby Farm in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Jan. 16.—A woman named Jennie Seiffert, who conducted a baby farming institution on Cass avenue, is under arrest for causing the death by starvation of two babies. Four children in various stages of decline were found in the apartments. In one room were two dead infants under six months of age. The woman said she had been given the children to take care of, but they perished in dying.

Umbria Beats Herself Again.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The steamship record across the Atlantic is as unstable as the six days' go-as-you-please figures. It is an interesting question as to just where the record will stop. The Cunarder Umbria has just lowered the eastbound record to six days two hours and forty-five minutes, a decrease of something like two hours. The westbound record is not only about an hour below the eastward passage.

Shot By a Discharged Porter.

MONTREAL, Jan. 16.—J. H. Sheffield, manager of the Pullman cars on the Canadian Pacific, was shot, probably fatally, Monday night by a colored porter, who had been discharged for irregularities. The porter was arrested. He says he is sorry he did not kill him outright.

HER SON DID IT.

The Eaton, Ohio, Murder No Longer a Mystery.

ELMER SHARKEY CONFESSES THAT HE KILLED HIS MOTHER.

But Can Give No Reason for Doing So—She Was Opposed to His Marrying the Daughter of a Neighbor and Threatened to Disinherit Him—He is Arrested—Insanity Runs in the Family.

EATON, O., Jan. 16.—The mystery of the murder of Mrs. Sharkey is a mystery no longer, its solution being given in the confession of her only child, Elmer, that it was his cruel hand that laid his mother mangled and dead at his feet.

At first, though suspected by all, Elmer preserved an air of indifference, but gradually began to grow restless, the enormity of his fearful crime seeming to present itself to him more and more in the presence of the solemn preparations for burial and the grief of the murdered woman's friends.

When the relatives bade a tearful farewell to the remains, Elmer bent above the dead form of the mother, who would have given her life for him, and trembled and wept pitifully. A warrant charging him with the murder was served upon him at the church door as the procession arrived. He managed to keep up very well until after he returned to the house of his uncle, Mr. John Deem, when he broke entirely down and with sobs told his relatives how he had committed the murder.

He had wished for some time to marry Miss Katie Straw, the daughter of a near neighbor, but his mother threatened to disinherit him if he did so. They had no words over the matter that evening, but after Elmer went to bed he thought it over, and suddenly resolved to kill his mother. He went in his night shirt half a mile to a neighbor's house, took a ring maul from the wood shed, returned to his mother's room and did the deed. He could give none of the particulars, only that after she was dead he broke his own bed room door and window and called the neighbors.

In answer to the questions of his horrified relatives he said:

"Oh, I don't know why I did it!"

The scene between himself and his affianced, Kate Straw, when the latter called on him, was touching.

Sharkey's mother and another member of the family have been insane. This will probably be the defense.

Sheriff Waters has armed guards around the jail, but no trouble is anticipated.

Message From the President.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The president Monday sent to congress a message without recommendation, but accompanied by a letter from Secretary Bayard and a large batch of correspondence in regard to differential tonnage dues.

Secretary Bayard reviews at great length the history of legislation affecting tonnage dues, gives the correspondence that has between the United States and foreign countries in regard to it, and recurs to the fact that the claim of Sweden and Norway for a refund of duties is based upon a clause in the treaty between that country and the United States which provides that neither country shall pay in the ports of the other a higher rate of tonnage duty than the vessels of that country.

Wants to Avenge Maxwell's Death.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 16.—D. E. Hogard, residing at 714 Locust street, received through the mail a dynamite cartridge accompanied by a letter which intimated that the dynamite was powerful enough to blow up the largest building in Kansas City. Mr. Hogard was requested to take care of the dangerous charge until such time as the sender would call for it. The letter was signed "Englishman," who expects to blow up a number of Americans in revenge for the killing of young Brooks who was hanged at St. Louis last summer.

Good Price For a Hole in the Ground.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., Jan. 16.—The sale of Suto tunnel under a decree of foreclosure granted by the United States circuit court took place Monday. The property was bid in by Henry C. Dibble, of San Francisco, for the Suto Tunnel company, of New York, which now holds the mortgage of McCallmont Brothers, of London. The price paid was $1,325,000. It is understood the property will be reconveyed to the Suto Tunnel company.

Object to the Inaugural Ball.

BOSTON Jan. 16.—The Evangelical alliance adopted a report from "the committee on the White House," ordering a communication to be sent to the inaugural committee, Washington, disapproving of the "ball," stating that the ceremonies should, out of respect for Mr. Harrison's well known religious and temperance character, be free from all immoral features, such as the purchase and use of liquors, and that instead of a "ball," a public reception should be given.

Avenge a Wronged Daughter.

BEAVER, Pa., Jan. 16.—William Veasey, a farmer of near East Palestine, O., shot Dick Perrott a well known rural politician of South Beaver, Sunday night. A year or more ago Perrott betrayed Veasey's daughter. Meeting Perrott Sunday night, he fired at him with a rifle. Perrott's wound is not serious.

The Kansas County Seat War.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 16.—Gen. Meyers, of the Kansas state militia, has arrived in Topeka from the seat of the Gray county war and confirms the reports of the trouble as sent from Cimarron, but declared the stories telegraphed from other points much exaggerated. The people of each town seem to fear nothing so much as an attack by those of the other. Fifteen soldiers are now on duty at Cimarron.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Proprietors.

WEDNESDAY EVE., JAN. 16, 1889.

The Electors of this State cast thirteen votes for Cleveland and thirteen for Thurman, for President and Vice President. Jack Collier, of Simpson, was chosen messenger to carry the news to Washington. Collier is a newspaper man and had a hard fight for the honor, but he got there, defeating seven opponents.

The question of teaching German in the public schools is receiving considerable attention at Louisville. For some cause or other there was talk of cutting off this branch of study, but the proposition met with bitter opposition, especially from the German element. Prof. Max Lorch, a German, and one of the prominent citizens, favors the move, however, and, in giving his reasons, says: "Of course, America is a free country, and no one is restricted in his liberty so long as he does not interfere with others. But when we ask the American people to teach in the free schools any foreign language, in order that it may be generally used, the demand is absurd. Germans, Italians, French—all come here to be Americans, and it is their business to learn the language of this country. We do not want any foreign language taught in our ward schools."

The Maysville Republican discusses like a learned Theban the subject of land subsidies to corporations, and concludes that the Democratic party is as deep in the mud as the Republican party is in the mire, and yet, the Republican admits that all the lands granted by Democratic Congresses for the advancement of internal improvements was made to the States, and not to private corporations.

Besides, aside from the stealing of the Presidency by the Republican party, the greatest scandal in our political history was that Republican measure the Credit Mobilier amendment to the Pacific railroad charter, by which the taxpayers of this country were robbed of $14,000,000 for the benefit of C. P. Huntington, Leland Stanford, Jay Gould, Sidney Dillon, Richard Crocker and other plutocrats.—Louisville Times.

Brother Davis objected to our statement that the land restored to the public domain during President Cleveland's administration was part of what had been "voted away by Republicans to railroad corporations and syndicates." There is no use for him to object, however, as it is a matter of history. While Democrats voted away some of the public domain, the grants were made to the States and not to private corporations, to enrich a few men.

GERMANTOWN.

Misses Anna and Lizzie Pumpelly moved to Augusta this week.

The wife of T. T. Asberry, who has been sick so long, is no better, but in a critical condition.

Rev. Ebricht is assisting the pastor in a protracted meeting at the M. E. Church, South, in Brooksville.

Frank Harmon was appointed Superintendent of the Sunday school at the Christian Church for the ensuing year. Herbert Pepper Secretary of same.

L. McNamara and wife have gone to St. Louis to spend their honeymoon. They will set up for housekeeping in his property at the east end of town on their return.

Died, of acute peritonitis, incidental to typhoid fever, on Sunday morning at 3 o'clock, Julian, youngest son of Dr. Isaac Pollock, in the twenty-fifth year of his age. His remains were laid away in the cemetery at the Christian Church. Appropriate religious services were held by Rev. H. C. Wright, at the family residence. His untimely death has cast a gloom of sadness over our entire community. He was the picture of health, a large, robust, noble-looking young man, amiable and pleasant disposition, the idol of a large circle of young men who have grown up with him in our midst. But he has gone; no more will his familiar form and face be seen upon our streets, or his fine tenor voice be heard in our assemblies—it is hushed in the silent grave.

All that medical skill, or attention of kind friends could do, was given him in his sickness, and on behalf of his aged and grief-stricken parent and relative we return heartfelt thanks to Drs. Dimmitt and Browning for their faithful services so well and cheerfully rendered, and to other kind friends who so well and faithfully nursed him.

Eupepsy.

This is what you ought to have, in fact, you must have it, to fully enjoy life. Thousands are searching for it daily, and mourning because they find it not. Thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent annually by our people in the hope that they may attain this boon. And yet it may be had by all. We guarantee that Electric Bitters, if used according to directions and the use persisted in, will bring you Good Digestion and oust the demon Dyspepsia and install instead Eupepsy. We recommend Electric Bitters for Dyspepsia and all diseases of Liver, Stomach and Kidneys. Sold at 50c and $1.00 per bottle at J. James Wood's Drugstore.

Railroad Notes.

The Kentucky Central pay-car was here yesterday on its monthly visit.

The General Freight and Passenger Agents of the Kentucky Central will soon remove their offices from Covington to Cincinnati.

Mr. Huntington has reduced his proposition to locate the E. L. and B. S. Railroad shops at Lexington to writing. He wants twenty-five acres of land and $25,000.

In the United States Court at Louisville, Judge Jackson decided that the Inter-State Railroad Commission can only arbitrate differences, and has no right or authority to enforce its decisions.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says: "The one-thousand and two-thousand mile tickets on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway will be honored on the Cincinnati Division between Huntington and Covington. These tickets will therefore be available for travel between Covington, Ky., and Phobus, Va."

The laying of heavy iron on the Ohio and Northwestern and Columbus and Maysville branch is now completed. A car will be put on the Columbus and Maysville branch and will be attached at Sardinia to the Ohio and Northwestern train and hauled into Cincinnati, giving the Hillsboro people a train through to Cincinnati without change of cars.

The second annual report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, which has recently been issued, gives the total railroad mileage of the United States up to June 30 last at 152,781 miles. One hundred and twenty thousand miles are capitalized at $6,976,271,156, or at the average rate of $58,135 per mile. Of this total capitalization $3,384,930,213 are bonds. The gross income of the 120,000 miles was $867,474,426, of which amount 68.03 per cent. was derived from freight traffic. Expenses were $507,796,345, and fixed charges $229,338,160. Of the total stock 52 per cent., and of the bonds 20.12 per cent., paid nothing.

Misses Ollie Bland and Bettie Piles, of Sardis, are visiting the Misses Chanslor, near Millersburg.

SEEING THE COUNTRY.

Wanderings of a Couple of Maysville Boys in the Far West—Incidents of Their Trip.

Messrs. Ernie White and Lee Hauke have been "seeing life" in the "Wild West" of late. They have been "roughing it" in earnest and an account of their wanderings will prove interesting reading to their friends here in Kentucky. A letter from Mr. White is at hand, but it is too lengthy to be given in full.

The couple left Wichita, Kan., a few months since and made their way down into the Indian Territory. Mr. White writes: "We here set eyes on the finest country we ever saw. One vast plain reaching beyond our sight, all very fertile and well timbered. We eat our Thanksgiving dinner here with the Indians and cow-boys. It consisted of veal chops, deer meat, black coffee and cakes—(The cakes we had with us)."

Continuing they passed through Denison, Ft. Worth and Dallas, Texas. At the latter place they ran across a quartette of Maysville boys—Thomas and Dudley Saddle and Ad. and Llewellyn Hall—and represented themselves as traveling for an "egg foundry."

In speaking of Mexico, Mr. White says: "The climate is fine, and what nice weather! I never saw the like before in my life. The houses are all built of mud and the streets run in every direction."

"We went to see a bull-fight, and oh, what a sight. One man was ripped in two by the enraged animal. The fighters come out in knee-pants. Their dress is of every color of the rainbow. In one hand they carry a red flag and in the other a little spear. If a fighter is killed or disabled, another is brought in. They stand behind the flag. The bull makes a break for it, but the Mexican jumps aside, and the animal goes on—sometimes on his head. The animal gets madder and madder, and they have it hot and fast. Finally the bull is worn out, and a Mexican comes in on horse back and kills him."

Here they also saw a man shot under order of court for some crime. This was enough of Mexico, and they returned to El Paso, Texas, where they ran a cross Wm. Dye, whose father was postmaster of Maysville years ago. From this point they wandered into New Mexico, but didn't like the country, as all they saw was pack mules and gold mines. They passed on up into Nevada stopping finally at Yuma. Here they saw "nothing but Indians." Their "grub was getting low" and they "didn't know hardly what to do." Falling in with a Texas cowboy he invited them to "jine" him and they would go to "the glorious climate of California." Los Angeles was the first place they struck. Mr. White writes: "Oh, but she was dull! The bottom has fallen out. You could not go on the street without somebody would come up and say: 'Mister, please give me two bits to get something to eat.' Oh, but it was tough. It was nice and warm there though and the flowers were in bloom and the grass green, but you could find nothing to do."

They left Los Angeles and passed up through California to Sacramento. Here they balanced their cash and found, they had but $22. They started out with $110. Their trip was continued and after a journey of several days over the mountains and through the valleys and some further wandering about, the couple finally landed at Portland, Oregon, in the extreme Northwestern part of the country.

They are still in Portland, where they secured positions at good wages. A letter from there written a few days after Christmas says: "The apricots, prunes and other fruits will soon be ripe. The flowers are in bloom—they stay so the year 'round. But it rains too much for me."

The C. and O. Mail.

The arrivals and departures of mails over the C. and O. Railroad, Cincinnati Division, are as follows: Arrives at 1:05 p. m.—railroad time—going east, and at 2:22 p. m.—railroad time—going west. The mail going east closes at 12:30 p. m.—city time—and going west at 2:30—city time. This arrangement is temporary. These mails are daily except Sunday. Through mail from Cincinnati to Ashland was put on yesterday.

FRANCE'S FUTURE

The Present Government Said to Be on Its Last Legs.

M. FLOQUET AND DEPUTY LAUR INDULGE IN A WAR OF WORDS.

Waterford, Ireland, the Scene of a Bloody Riot Between the People and the Police—Collision in the Indian Ocean. Forty-Two Persons Drowned—Stanley Again Heard From—Foreign News.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The war of words which took place Monday in the lobby of the French chamber of deputies between Premier Floquet and Deputy Laur furnishes whatever may have been necessary to convince the world that the present French government is catching at straws in the forlorn hope of prolonging its official existence.

That the government is fleeing from the bete noir of Boulangerism is a fact that can no longer be concealed and the mediocre ministry just now essaying to direct the destinies of France is on its last legs, is also a fact as plain as the sun at noonday. The action of M. Floquet in refusing to accord to M. Laur the satisfaction which that gentleman demanded and which was his due, and loftily taking refuge in the tribune where he might without fear of personal injury add additional insults to the fiery deputy is almost generally condemned, few persons outside of the small circle of adherents to the pharisaical ministry offering any arguments in justification of his course.

If Boulangerism is to be successfully combated, and it is not now apparent that it can be, the opposition to it can be conducted only with the openness of honest political warfare and the fairness which accompanies the desire of the patriot to achieve, not personal, but public ends of eminent advantage to the country. The chief object of every French ministry that has been in power since Gen. Boulanger was relieved of the war portfolio has apparently been to oppose that person, though it is now here set forth in the constitution of laws of the French republic that such a quarrel is the principal, or even a minor function of the government.

Because of the petty aims of the successive ministries during the last two years, the elements they have sought to combat have gradually risen in importance, until it has become merely a question of time when the "tail will wag the dog." The obstinacy of Premier Floquet in declining to recognize M. Laur's claim to satisfaction on the field of honor has disgusted many of the former's friends, and unless he shall reconsider his determination not to fight he will unquestionably find it greatly to his personal comfort to resign his office in advance of the downfall of his ministry, which cannot be long delayed.

No Doubt of Stanley's Safety.
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Special cables received from London state that the government has received special from Stanley that there is no doubt of his safety.

Commenting on the dispatch stating that Stevens, the bicyclist, has started to find Stanley, the Daily Chronicle says: "We may say that Mr. Stevens is now in London, having arrived by the steamer Umbria on Saturday, and that the government has information of Stanley's safety. Long before Mr. Stevens can reach the east coast of Africa recent letters from Stanley will be published in London. There are meanwhile certain reasons why the exact whereabouts of the famous traveler should not be made public."

HERR MOST RETALIATES

By Calling Those Who Oppose His Leadership Cranks.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A grim smile irradiated John Most's somber countenance as he read in Monday's paper a long statement to the effect that American Anarchists had grown tired of his leadership, and were about to break loose from him and his teachings. The smile grew grimmer as he read that his disgruntled followers complained of his lukewarmness and accused him of treason and dereliction of duty.

I called on him at his office and asked him if it was really true that his followers had deserted him.

"Bah," replied; "The cranks have got just what they wanted—a good advertisement. Why, I've had in my office for the past fortnight their circular denouncing me, and I would not publish it or comment on it in the Freiheit, because I did not want the fellows to flatter themselves that whatever they might do or say could cause me a moment's uneasiness."

"They can't frighten me, however, and I defy them to do their worst. I guess they won't assassinate me, and as for all their other threats, why, they are not worth a moment's notice. They may form themselves into a club with a high sounding name and issue new circulars against me every week, but, knowing that the club is composed of three or four members who have no standing among reputable revolutionists, I think I can well afford to let them howl and plot against me just as much as they please."

The girls had been suffocated by the dense smoke, their bodies not having been badly burned.

THE FRENCH CREOLES.

Some of the Peculiarities of This Simple Minded People.

The French creoles of the lower class are a hard to mouth class of people, purchasing the stick of wood today and the handful of herbs that are to cook and season their potage, filling their small market baskets with innumerable pinches of this, that and the other, laying in a few sous of sugar and coffee at a time, and—going next day, for 365 days in the year, and doing identically the same thing, in secula seculorum. Dislike to the accumulation of household goods, to well stored cellars and pantries, to generous abundance, to picturesque profusion, to the essentials of a large handed hospitality even within the narrow limits of their neighborhood acquaintances, an ant like economy and abstemiousness, a curious juxtaposition of eternal self restraint and a passion for sensations, colors, sounds, perfumes, fantastic sensualities, an instinct for microscopic money getting wedded to an instinct that has filled New Orleans with noble institutions for the poor, the blind, the sick, the world weary; a passion for novels and for splendid churches, a fond endurance of rigors of cold and hunger for the brilliant affluence of carem-prenant and Carnival, a voluntary exile from all lighter and joy that their feet may twinkle a night or two on the mirrored floors of the masquerade balls down in Chartres and Royal streets; such are the fragments of sweet and bitter herbs that go to make up part of the paradox of creole character and communicate to it an indefinable piquancy and strangeness by their thick bars of light and shadow.

The chief charm of this character is a touching gentleness and benignity that blends all other characteristics and permeates the whole constitution of the native creole. There is something elegiac, tender, dreamy about the race, a remnant or recollection of earlier and better days, an aroma of exile coming from old colonial times, when so many emigrated from the gay fatherland to the trackless wilderness of Louisiana, seeking their fortunes. Disappointment seems to have impressed itself as a trait of heredity on their spiritual make up; a brooding languor has spread from the luxurious climate through the limbs and constitutions of the immigrants, the adventurous spirit of the marvelous brothers Bienville, Iberville and Sauvalle, laid under perpetual embargo by a Chinese wall of swamp, bayou and bog, has sunk into a curious psychological numbness and content with surroundings; geography, exploration, literature, research, travel (beyond the inevitable transit to France once in a lifetime) are unknown luxuries to these lotus eating folk, and in their way they are as still in their sunny corner as the sun loving alligator that haunts their streams.

The customs, games and sports of these exiles are full of reminiscences of the fatherland, mingled with odd accretions and after-growths, a clinging conservatism, a poetic susceptibility. There are songs and Christmas customs smacking of Gascony, Provence, Champagne, San Domingo, Franche-Comte, such as linger in Canada and form touching links with the folk over the sea.—James A. Harrison in Autrefois.

My Poor Back!

That "poor back" is held responsible for more than its share of the sufferings of mankind. If your dog bites a man who kicks it, do you blame the dog? On the same principle the kidneys utter their protest against nervousness, impure blood, and resulting constipation. These force them to do extraordinary work in ridding the system of the poisons which are the result of effete matter retained in the blood. Then the sufferer says the blood is "Not yet," but they will be the blood purified, and the constipation removed. These are the causes of kidney troubles, and Paine's Celery Compound removes them quickly. With its tonic, purifying, and laxative effect, it also strengthens the weak kidneys, making it almost infallible in curing all diseases of the nerves and kidneys. If your hopes of cure have not been realized, try Paine's Celery Compound; it gives perfect health to all who complain of "their poor backs." Price $1.00.
